Production Problems in Hangchow Factories: PLA's Help

Hangchow Chekiang provincial service 0400 gmt 21 July 75

Text of reports:

(i) Under the guidance of the series of important instructions issued by Chairman Mao and the CCP Central Committee, the broad masses of workers, cadres and technicians in the Hangchow combined silk dyeing and printing factory have conscientiously studied the theory of the dictatorship of the proletariat, deepened revolutionary mass criticism, strengthened revolutionary unity, promoted production and developed a favourable situation. During a certain period in the past, they were unable to increase production because of the pernicious influence of the counter-revolutionary revisionist line, bourgeois factionalism and sabotage by a handful of class enemies. Since the beginning of July, the situation in revolution and production has developed rapidly. The leading group of the factory has organized all the workers to study theory, grasp the line, deepen revolutionary mass criticism, strengthen revolutionary unity, and do a good job in production.

In the past few days, study classes and criticism meetings have been held by various departments and workshops. All workshops, offices, cafeterias and dormitories have become battlefields for the development of revolutionary mass criticism. All the workers are filled with enthusiasm and militancy. They have indignantly criticized the counter-revolutionary revisionist line promoted by Liu Shao-chi and Lin Piao. They have vigorously denounced the crimes of Liu Shao-chi and Lin Piao in trying to split the Party and the working class and repudiated bourgeois factionalism. Revolutionary mass criticism has helped the workers to see things clearly, distinguish the correct line from the erroneous line, strengthen their revolutionary unity, raise their awareness in implementing Chairman Mao's revolutionary line and enhance their enthusiasm for socialism. Through study and criticism, the broad masses of workers have united as one in dealing with their common enemies so as to achieve the splendid goal of consolidating the dictatorship of the proletariat. In line with Chairman Mao's teaching: "There is no fundamental clash of interests within the working class. Under the dictatorship of the proletariat, there is no reason whatsoever for the working class to split into two great irreconcilable organizations". All the workers have united in thinking and action; and vigorously grasped revolution and promoted production. Through study and criticism, the broad masses of workers have worked with great revolutionary zeal and valiantly plunged into the battle of grasping the revolution and promoting production.

Leaders of the No 1 shift of the silk printing workshop (Fu Chin-lin) and (Wang Shu-kuang) have lead the workers in performing their duties well. At the same time, they have also closely co-ordinated with other workshops and shouldered heavy responsibilities. Workers of the electrical department are always so busy that they have had to give up their rest period to repair power facilities. Workers in the high-tension switch room volunteered to repair a boiler so as to ensure maximum safety in production. Workers of the supply department strive to provide the workshops with all necessary material to support production. Although there are only few persons working in the nursery attached to the factory, they have done their very best to take care of the babies so that their mothers can concentrate their efforts in grasping revolution and promoting production. Cooks in the cafeterias strive to increase the variety of the dishes. They provide the workers with steamed bread and hot vegetable soup, and endeavour to satisfy the needs of the workers. After finishing their regular runs in the day time, bus drivers return to the factory in the evening to drive the night shift workers.

The leading cadres at the factory and workshop levels have also demonstrated great enthusiasm in work. They often go to workshops to conduct investigation and study among the workers and help the workers solve problems in revolution and production. At the same time, they always try their best to make use of available time to participate in productive labour. All of them have made use of their holidays and days off to do manual labour and have taken the lead in tackling the most difficult jobs. They have won unanimous acclaim from the worker masses.